Excerpt from Beyond a Drama of Heart s Counseling At the door of St George s registry office, Charles Clare Winton strolled forward in the wake of the taxi-cab that was bearing his daughter away with the fiddler fellow she had married. His sense of decorum forbade his walking with Nurse Betty - the only other witness of the wedding. A stout woman in a highly emotional condition would have been an incongruous companion to his slim, upright figure, moving with just that unexaggerated swing and balance becomming to a lancer of the old school, even if he has been on the retired list for sixteen years. Poor Betty! He thought of her with irritated sympathy - she need not have given way to tears on the door-step. She might well feel lost now Gyp was gone, but not so lost as himself! His pale-gloved hand - the one real hand he had, for his right hand had been amputated at the wrist - twisted vexedly at the small, grizzling moustache lifting itself from the corners of his firm lips. On this grey February day he wore no overcoat; faithful to the absolute, almost shamefaced quietness of that wedding, he had not even donned black coat and silk hat, but wore a blue suit and a hard black felt.
